Bell Boy, 27, Is Arrested In Hotel Assault Slaying

Jury Rules New York College Honor Student Lost Her Life at Hands of Persons Unknown; Alleged Attacker Is Described by Newsboy to Police.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 17.—(UP)—Asheville police tonight made their first arrest in the slaying of pretty Helen Clevenger, New York University honor student.

Nearly 40 hours after the girl's mutilated and ravished body was found in her room at a fashionable hotel here, city officers placed Joe Urey, 27, a bellboy at the hotel where the 19-year-old girl was slain, under arrest for questioning at 11 p. m. (Atlanta time).

Detectives declined to reveal his supposed connection with the case.

"He is being held for questioning, and we will question him sometime between now and daylight," a detective said. "We do not know ourselves just how he fits into the picture."

The arrest came five hours after a coroner's jury probing the slaying of the blond student, who was vacationing in North Carolina's Blue Ridge mountains after completing her first year at New York University with honors, returned a verdict of death at hands of "person or persons unknown."

Police, reticent about their activities in the case, intimated the arrest

MAN IS SHOT DEAD IN TAPROOM ROW

Alleged Killer Is Held
Following Shooting in Downtown Restaurant.

A man identified as William L. DuPre, 24, of Hurt's Ferry road, Fulton county, was shot twice and killed with bullets from a .38-caliber revolver at about 6:30 o'clock last night during an argument in a crowded taproom on Houston street, near Pryor.

Detectives Fred Battle and J. W. Cody, and Patrolman J. K. Patterson arrested a man listed as W. Harry Allen, 26, of a Pulliam street address, on a charge of suspicion of murder.

A charge of suspicion was also placed against a man who identified himself as W. C. Mobley, 49, of a downtown hotel.

According to police reports, DuPre was shot once in the right leg and once in the left shoulder, the bullet coursing downward and striking the heart. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at Grady hospital.

Cause of the argument which led to the shooting was not learned, but detectives quoted Allen as saying: "A couple of fellows were trying to slap me around. One of them had a knife."

This statement was not amplified, however.

Prior to his arrest, Allen was treated at Grady hospital for a severe cut on the head, inflicted by a soft drink bottle when patrons and employees sought to disarm him on the pavement outside the establishment.

Detectives said they learned the men had been observed engaged in heated words in another taproom on Houston street about an hour before the shooting. The taproom was thrown into confusion when three shots were fired, one going wild.

Mobley dived behind a counter at the sound of the shots, police learned, and went to Grady hospital under the impression he was wounded. He was treated for a laceration on his forehead.

DuPre is survived by his mother, a sister, and two uncles, Willis S. Smith and Charles DuPre. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Awtry & Lowndes.

REZONING PERMIT GRANTED BY BOARD FOR GREAT STORES

Minor Restrictions Included in Resolution Allowing Big Building
by Montgomery Ward.

Ratification by city council Monday of approval by the city planning commission of a petition to rezone for business Peachtree road property near the Southern Railway station, appeared yesterday to be the only step necessary to initiate construction of the planned $3,000,000 retail store and mail order establishment by Montgomery Ward & Company.

Unanimous approval by the commission yesterday of a compromise agreement which met substantially every claim of objecting property owners in the vicinity was believed to have assured prompt start on the undertaking, which has been characterized as one of the greatest civic and mercantile developments which has come to Atlanta within the past several years.

Planning commission members yesterday unanimously voted the rezoning of the properties as asked by Marion Smith, prominent attorney representing the firm's interests in Atlanta, and it was predicted city council will approve the improvement as submitted.

Toutman For Objectors.

Robert B. Troutman, attorney, represented property owners and co-operated in drafting compromise which, for the most part, was accepted by the planning group. Although Smith declined to commit his clients to the compromise in advance of definite information, it was regarded as certain the company will seek to co-operate with the city in working out an amicable adjustment of the opposition which developed at first and which crumbled yesterday with adoption of the compromise proposals.

"Montgomery Ward & Company wants to come into Atlanta with a feeling of good will and suggestions from the planning commission will be considered sympathetically," Smith said when asked if the compromise restrictions were acceptable. "I can not, of course, say what may develop, but I

TOWNSEND QUILTS EXECUTIVE GROUP WITH ULTIMATUM

Stalks Out of Directors' Meeting, Announces He Won't Return Until Pro-
Roosevelt Aid Is Ousted.

CLEVELAND, July 17.—(UP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend stalked out of a meeting of the Townsend recovery plan board of directors tonight, announcing he would not return unless the members decided to expel Gomer Smith, vice president of the national organization, because of a speech he made yesterday endorsing President Roosevelt.

Gomer Smith, a member of the board, was present at the meeting. Also in attendance was the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, who was attacked in Gomer Smith's speech yesterday. Townsend has demanded Gomer Smith's dismissal for "raising a controversial issue in the convention."

Earlier, at the convention hall, Dr. Townsend tried to get his old age pension ship back on a steady keel after a day and night of controversy which threatened to scuttle it.

Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest, who tried to lead the delegates into Congressman William Lemke's ear-splitting speech yesterday, made a "demagogic appeal," according to Nathan Roberts, southern Townsend regional director, who was appointed to pour oil on troubled waters.

"This movement must be non-partisan," Roberts said. "We deplore party animosity. We do not subscribe to branding as a liar, double-crosser or a betrayer a Roosevelt, a Landon or a Lemke."

Those were the words that Coughlin used in describing Mr. Roosevelt when he stripped off his coat and went out to try to bag the Townsend votes for Lemke.

Ouster Move Begun.

Waitress Takes Step Toward Opera Fame

From waitress to grand opera star is the ambition to which Miss Alice Witherell, shown above, has set herself. Employed in a restaurant on Capitol avenue, she has been keeping up her voice lessons and was given her first real "break" when Pasquale Amato, famous Metropolitan opera star, awarded her a scholarship to Louisiana State University's school of voice, when he visited Atlanta a month ago to give competitive auditions. By CHARLES F. CRANE.

The soft-voiced young woman with the sleek black hair placed the cup of coffee on the counter.

"How will you enjoy being a famous opera singer some day?" she was asked.

The waitress merely raised one eyebrow.

Then we admitted to each other it was no longer a secret that the waitress, Alice Witherell by name, has been selected winner of competitive auditions given a month ago in Atlanta by Pasquale Amato, noted Metropolitan opera star, and that she would go to Louisiana State University next fall on a scholarship to attend the university's school of music and study under the famous singing teacher.

Not Ordinary Waitress.

Just a waitress today, a student in one of the country's finest schools of voice tomorrow.

Her speech, her gestures, her diction all hinted of careful rearing and training.

She is passing out coffee and hot lunches now at the little restaurant on Capitol avenue near Hunter street because the fates "that darn farm" near Live Oak, Fla. And because an ambition born in a kindergarten song recital in Peoria, Ill., just won't be denied.

This young woman for whom Amato prophesied a brilliant vocal future could not carry a tune when she entered kindergarten, she admitted yesterday.

Something Happened.

Then the kind-hearted teacher taught her to sing "In Nothing But a Big Wax Doll." When she walked out on the stage at the age of five and sang before an audience something happened. She knew right then, she said, that nothing but singing would do for her. Her idea has never changed. And she still remembers that song.

At 16 she was soloist with the West Palm Beach civic orchestra. When 17, she became soloist of Bethesda-by-the-Sea, an Episcopal church in Palm Beach which at the time was spending $25,000 for music during the 20 Sundays of the year it operated in full force.

Miss Witherell was 18 years old and had been studying voice for four

MERCURY HITS 112 IN SOUTH DAKOTA; DEATHS DECREASE

Drouth Area Described as
"A Picture of Complete Destruction" by Resettlement Administrator
Rexford G. Tugwell.

FUNDS ALLOCATED FOR DIGGING WELLS

$350,000 in Federal Money
Allotted for Human Subsistence Needs; Other
Aids Are Authorized.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(AP)—The 15-day-old heat wave softened its punches today but not for the corn belt.

That fertile farm sector saw additional millions of bushels burned from its expected yield as temperatures rose again as high as 112 degrees at Mitchell, S. D., and unofficially to 116 degrees elsewhere in the state.

A half dozen other states of the area were counted once more in the "100-plus" oven belt.

No general relief was sighted by central weather bureau forecasters, but they held out hopes of "showers and cooler" for the northern tier of central states from North Dakota east to the western part of upper Michigan.

Fatalities Take Drop.

Fatalities, attributed to the heat, took a big drop. Less than 60 were added during the day, compared with a nearly 300 daily average for the heat wave's stay. The new total was 4,419.

Fears for corn's outcome magnified as it approached the end of another week of its critical period. Charles D. Reed, federal meteorologist in Iowa, estimated the yield loss was averaging 10,000,000 bushel a day now.

On the Chicago Board of Trade, corn was king. It rose the four-cent daily permissible limit at the opening of trading and closed near that figure despite heavy profit-taking. The final prices were 92 3/4 to 92 7/8 for July, the highest quotation in more than a year. Wheat was lower.

Toward the sun-baked sections of South Dakota—described by Resettlement Administrator Rexford G. Tugwell after traveling through them as "a picture of complete destruction"—federal relief measures were directed.

Loans Ordered.

Tugwell, at Pierre, directed his administration to supply loans for livestock feed for destitute farmers at once. At the same time, he authorized

Talmadge Stronghold Ballots for Russell

LOWELL, Ga., July 17.—A straw vote to test Governor Talmadge's popularity in this remote Carroll county village shows a decided change in sentiment since the 1934 election.

Two years ago, Talmadge lost only 20 votes out of a possible 250 in Lowell district.

Ten days ago, a ballot box was installed in the center of the village and visiting farmers from the area were invited to vote their preference for Talmadge or Russell in the senatorial race.

The box was opened two days ago and Russell led Talmadge by two to one. Ninety-seven votes were cast.

Many Feared Dead In Colombian 'Quake'

TOQUERRES, Colombia, July 17.—(AP)—A disastrous earthquake virtually destroyed this town today.

Thousands were homeless. The casualties, so far, were unknown but it was feared many had perished.

Panicky inhabitants crowded the outskirts of the town while the shocks continued. The main shock lasted two minutes.

Telegraph operators were sending dispatches from temporary circuits rigged up in the streets.

Cobb Says: 3d Party
Does Own Emoting

By IRVIN S. COBB.
(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., July 17.—Should either of the old parties hold a national convention, it takes expert ballrooming to pump up the emotion. But when third parties get together—in order, apparently, to get more widely separated—they do their own emoting and have enough left over to put up some in cans for the export trade.

Take this week's to-do at Cleveland. When Father Coughlin denounces Mr. Roosevelt, they cheer him. Up boys one of two mysterious gentlemen called Smith to him, however, to the well-known cough drop brothers of that name. And he denounces Father Coughlin for denouncing Mr. Roosevelt. So some crowd cheers him.

Dr. Townsend denounces Smith for denouncing Father Coughlin for denouncing Mr. Roosevelt, and the applause is overwhelming. Smith stands pat, and the delegates seemingly are for him and against him, in the same fevered breath. I figure the appearance at the proper moment of a good crooner might have resulted in a ticket made up of Rudy Vallee and Bing Crosby.

CORPORATE GAINS SHOWN BY SURVEY

Business Improvement
Indicated by 35.6 Pct.
Increase Over Last Year

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—A rising tide of corporate earnings gave Wall Street today further tangible evidence of business improvement.

A gain of 36.8 per cent in second quarter profits over the same period last year was shown in a compilation by the Associated Press of the first 45 statements of reporting companies.

For six months' earnings were up 35.6 per cent over the showing for the comparable period last year.

Earnings of the group in the three months ended with June totaled $41,038 against $29,891,267 in the 1935 period. The half year total was $72,044,116 against $53,738,205 in the first six months of last year.

Acceleration of the uptrend in business earnings was indicated on top of the sharp gains chalked up on the steady climb of industry from the depression depths.

Conspicuous for gains were such companies as Westinghouse, General Electric, United Fruit, Johns-Manville and the United Corporation.

Stockholders watched the mounting earnings toll in expectation of larger dividends under spur of the new federal surtax upon undivided profits.

Designed to increase the flow of corporate dividends into the hands of security holders, particularly those in the higher individual income tax brackets, the levy appears already to have stimulated payments, some analysts said.

Expansion in earnings, it was pointed out, has paved the way for a growing list of increased disbursements.

GOVERNMENT COST IS ISSUE—REDWINE

President of Senate Formally Opens Campaign for Governor at Griffin.

GRIFFIN, Ga., July 17.—Senate President Charles D. Redwine, Governor Eugene Talmadge's candidate for governor, formally opened his speaking campaign here today, listing the cost of government as the outstanding issue.

It was the first time Redwine has appeared on a platform alone since he announced. Previously he has appeared for a brief talk at Governor Talmadge's meetings. Talmadge is a candidate for United States senator against Senator Richard B. Russell, junior.

He reiterated: "I am a firm believer in the principle that the state should wrest from its citizens no more toll in the form of taxes than is absolutely necessary to discharge the proper functions of state government."

Follows Talmadge Program

Redwine repeated himself to carry forward the economies and tax reductions of the Talmadge administration, including $3 automobile license tags and an endorsement of the proposed constitutional amendment limiting real estate taxation to 15 mills for all purposes.

Regarding the school book issue, Redwine said: "They also claim the Governor tried to block the school book provision in the beer bill. This is not true."

"They also claim the governor tried to block it. In the next breath they claim the Governor and the president of the senate controlled the senate. These charges answer one another."

"The school book provision was not

Rewards for Liquor Car Seizures Paid Policemen, Committee Told

Despite a police order to the contrary, Atlanta policemen last night were reported to have received and cashed reward checks for apprehension of liquor cars without the approval of Police Chief T. O. Sturdivant or the safety committee of city council.

The disclosure was made at the regular meeting of the committee when a list of rewards was submitted to the committee for approval. It did not bear the approval of Sturdivant and the chief immediately launched a battle on the proposal. Hughes Roberts, superior court attaché in charge of liquor cars seized, made the payments, according to reports.

Sturdivant told committee members the rewards had been directed to be

NEW FIGHTING PLANES PURCHASED BY U. S.

60 Speedy Ships Will Be Delivered Monthly for Rest of Year.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Sixty new speedy fighting planes will zoom into the air every month during the rest of the year under perfected War Department airplane procurement plans.

The record of two plane deliveries a day, army air corps officials said today, has been made possible by the smooth functioning of a new purchasing plan started by Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war.

Before the end of the year 500 new planes will be ready for action, officials said. Plans have been made for the purchase of more than 600 planes of various types in 1937.

Facing congressional criticism because of the slowness and quality of the army's aircraft, Woodring, officials said, revised buying specifications and installed a new system, after an exhaustive development and test period, designed to provide the army with the world's finest fighting aircraft.

The planes already delivered and the two planes to be delivered each day during this year will provide the army air corps with machines that will carry greater loads for longer distances at higher speeds than was dreamed of a few years ago.

Officials said, the latest type planes race along at nearly 300 miles an hour.

The War Department has contracted for 849 planes under the new policy, of which 181 have been delivered. The goal is 2,400.

NEGRO EXECUTED IN SLAYING.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 17.—(AP)—William Abraham Hodgin, 36-year-old negro, of Elizabeth City, was executed at Central prison here today for the murder of 71-year-old Herbert Searey, of Winston-Salem. Hodgin killed Searey, with whom he had been living, with a hatchet on the night of December 23 and stuffed the body into a trunk.

SMALLWOOD DEATH LISTED AS SUICIDE

Woman Killed Mother, Two Sons, Shot Self, Set Fire to Bed.

BERRYVILLE, Va., July 17.—(AP)—A coroner's verdict of "murder and suicide" was returned here today in the shooting and burning of four members of the Smallwood family in the Blue Ridge mountains.

The coroner decided Mrs. May Smallwood, 45, became temporarily insane and killed herself after slaying her mother and two sons with a shotgun.

Testimony was given that the mother, Mrs. Susan Virginia Elsen, 87, and the boys, Elbert, 23, and Alvin, 17, were shot at close range while lying in bed. The beds were then ignited.

Witnesses who testified speculated that Mrs. Smallwood ignited her own bed and laid down on it before she shot herself. A fingerprint expert said he found Mrs. Smallwood's prints on the gun used to kill all four and also on a kerosene lamp used presumably to fire the bedding.

Vacationing Convicts

Ordered Back to Pen

NEW ORLEANS, July 17.—(AP)—Governor Richard W. Leche made it clear today that the state penitentiary "is not a resort," and that persons sent to Angola must stay until their terms are served.

Declaring it "the settled policy" of his administration, the chief executive cancelled all convict furloughs in an order signed as he prepared to reenter for Washington.

"I learned recently," the Governor said, "that a number of convicts have been at their homes in various parts of the state for some time. The Louisiana penitentiary is not a resort. It is not a place that you visit when you feel so inclined. It is a place where you are sent, and from now on when you are sent there, you stay there."

Lupo the Wolf, Free for 16 Years, Back in U. S. Prison for Long Term

Back in Atlanta penitentiary after a 16-year holiday, Lupo the Wolf, 59-year-old Brooklyn racketeer, began serving yesterday morning the remaining 20 years of a 30-year sentence by order of President Roosevelt.

Lupo has beaten the law for 37 years in New York and Italy. He started in Palermo, Italy, in 1899, by killing a merchant named Salvatore Morello. He was in jail only a few months when he escaped and entered the United States illegally. He had been a member of the Mafia in Sicily and, on arrival in New York, immediately became a leader of that band of extortionists.

In the next few years his name was connected with several mysterious murders in New York and Brooklyn, and he was questioned as a suspect but police obtained no results. In 1908 he disappeared, leaving $1,000 assets and $100,000 debts. There was a sudden disappearance of other Italian grocers who were bankrupt. About $500,000 was lost to creditors in this series of bankruptcies and Lupo was suspected as the brains of the plot. He was arrested for extortion later in 1908, but was discharged for lack of evidence.

Sent to Atlanta.

In 1909, Lupo organized a building corporation, selling shares to new immigrants from Italy. It was not doing so well, so Lupo built a counterfeiting plant at Highland, N. Y., equipping it with an arsenal of repeating rifles. He paid dividends to stockholders in the building corporation with this counterfeit money, but his scheme failed and he was sentenced to 30 years in prison. He was sent to Atlanta.

In 1920 President Harding, on certification of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, gave Lupo a conditional commutation of sentence. It was represented as "highly important" for business reasons that Lupo be permitted to return to Italy. The commutation was granted on the condition that Lupo be law-abiding and not connected with any unlawful undertaking during the unexpired period of his sentence. The President was given the right to revoke the commutation at any time and it was under this condition that President Roosevelt acted.

Active in Rackets.

Lupo went back to Italy but returned to New York in 1921 and since then has been active in rackets. He ruled the bakeries of Brooklyn, collecting tributes from them. In 1925 he made another trip to Italy and, according to "underground sources" made this trip to put some $3,000,000 cash beyond the reach of United States authorities. In 1925 he took over the Frankie Uale rackets and recently had been interested in Italian lotteries and the grape racket, in addition to his remaining as head of the bakery racket, through his control of several unions.

Efforts were made to prosecute him in 1933, but witnesses refused to testify against him or identify him. Last January a group of Italian bakers complained that he was operating bakeries and selling goods at cost to retaliate against them for aiding in efforts to prosecute him in 1933. The complaint was turned over to Governor Lehman, of New York, who requested the President to act by revoking the commutation. The President acted immediately. Lupo was arrested quietly and quickly on morning this week and was off to Atlanta this afternoon, before lawyers knew of his arrest or could obtain a writ. Lupo's real name is Ignazio Saletta.

Missing From Home Here

ALVIN L. PATTON.

MISSING ATLANTA MAN

IS SOUGHT BY WIFE, ILL.

Aid of The Constitution was asked yesterday in locating Alvin L. Patton, of 397 1-2 Central avenue, S. W., who has been missing since leaving to go to work Monday morning.

The wife of the missing man is reported ill at her home.

Mr. Patton was described as being about 31 years old, has blue eyes and black hair, which is turning gray. When last seen he was wearing a dark blue shirt and gray trousers, coat and hat. He was driving a 1928 model coupe.

Anyone having information as to the missing man's whereabouts is asked to call Mrs. Patton at Main 4424.

DEPUTY OFFICER SLAIN
ON MOUNTAIN HIGHWAY

ROANOKE, Va., July 17.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Clarence E. "Big Boy" Simmons, of Roanoke County, was slain with buckshot charges as he drove homeward along the Rocky Mount road, three miles south of the city, early this morning, and his companion, Deputy Charles Boone, who had slipped down into the other corner of the seat and fallen asleep, miraculously escaped.

Late today, 10 suspects had been taken into custody as county, city and state officers pressed their search for the assassins. Commonwealth's Attorney Edward E. Richardson, of Roanoke County, professed to have gathered nothing of value from early questioning of some of the number, but it was disclosed that two or three promising clues have been found, and these are being pressed for developments.

A reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the slaying of the officer, was offered today by the Roanoke County Board of Supervisors.

SAN FRANCISCO BRIDGE
NEARING COMPLETION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—(AP)—Fifteen men unceremoniously shoved a 5-ton chord of steel into place today and closed the last gap in the San Francisco-Oakland transbay bridge, making the great structure more than 98 per cent complete.

The work crew ran up a flag to mark the achievement after they had maneuvered the last link to its permanent position on a pier on the San Francisco side.

Placing of the chord left only the paving, the final riveting and the application of a few odds and ends to complete the $77,200,000 structure, which will start carrying traffic November 12.

The bay bridge listed as the costliest structure of its kind in the world, crosses the "longest" stretch of navigable water ever spanned by engineers—4 1/2 miles. It is 8 1/4 miles long, counting its approaches.

SIX IRISH REPUBLICANS
SEIZED WITH DYNAMITE

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, July 17.—(AP)—A heavily chained and guarded Irish republican tonight defiantly challenged the right of a British court to bring him before the bar of justice.

Hugh McAteer Jr., one of six men seized today in the royal Ulster's constabulary's ceaseless war against the revolutionary Irish republican organization, declared before the bench: "I deny the right of the court to try me, or any citizen of the Irish republic."

Sixty-eight sticks of gelignite (a gelatin dynamite), enough to blast away a city, formed the main exhibit in the short hearing for the six men. Police recorded their names as Thomas Carlin, James Cowie, Sean Dolan, Hugh McAteer and his sons, Hugh and Daniel McAteer.

GILLIAM ENTERS RACE FOR ALDERMANIC POST

Qualification for Ward Race Eliminates Alderman as Mayorality Prospect.

Ed A. Gilliam, twelfth ward alderman for the past several years, yesterday definitely eliminated himself as a mayorality prospect in the September 2 city primary, when he qualified and announced his candidacy for the aldermanic nomination from the newly created second ward.

Gilliam has been mentioned prominently as a potential contender for mayor, but his announcement and qualification dissipates that possibility.

Councilman G. Dan Bridges, who delivered a blast at Mayor Key and the police administration Thursday in announcing his candidacy for alderman from the newly created first ward, qualified during the day, and Sebe Sharp qualified for the democratic committee post from the newly established third ward.

Gilliam served as mayor pro tem. in 1935, has been chairman of the important finance committee, held membership on the police committee, and has served as a member of practically every other committee of council during his years of service.

In qualifying, Gilliam issued the following statement:

"I appreciate the interest of those who have proffered their support for other positions, but in justice to the people of my ward, to myself and to the people of Atlanta, I feel I can best serve the city as a member of council and by retaining my position as a member of the aldermanic board."

"I, therefore, have qualified as alderman from the new second ward, composed of the present eleventh and twelfth wards. If elected, I promise the people of Atlanta that I shall continue my policy of insisting on a business-like, honest and equitable administration for the best interests of all the citizens of Atlanta."

OFFICIALS QUESTION
SECRET OPERATIVES

Investigation Directed Largely to Federal Subordinates.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Seeking to learn whether he knew anything of reports that the secret service had conducted an investigation of justice agents' activities, secret service chiefs today subjected Gerald L. Boatwright, veteran operative, to a three-hour interrogation.

What he told them was not disclosed.

Boatwright, head of the St. Paul office and formerly attached to the White House detail, was the first of several operatives Chief W. H. Moran, of the service, and W. H. McReynolds, administrative assistant to Secretary Morgenthau, propose to question.

The treasury said Thomas J. Callahan, head of the Chicago office, was one of those who would be questioned.

Officials emphasized that the inquiry was directed largely at subordinates of the two secret service field executives.

Assistant Chief Joseph Murphy in Los Angeles is expected to arrive here soon to take part in the inquiry.

BORAH WILL HAVE OPPONENT IN IDAHO

Byron Defenbach, Former State Treasurer, To Get Townsend Backing.

BOISE, Idaho, July 17.—(AP)—A political veteran with a mastery of words and the approval of the Idaho Townsend pension organization—state treasurer Byron Defenbach, former state treasurer—is challenging the long-maintained republican supremacy of Senator William E. Borah.

The 68-year-old Defenbach will be Borah's only opponent in the republican senatorial primary August 11.

"I'm not against anyone," Defenbach asserted today, adding:

"This is a free country; I have been drafted by the Townsend organization to make the race on the republican ticket, and I shall devote my entire energy to winning as many votes as I can get."

The state's 155 Townsend clubs are circulating petitions pledging signs to support Defenbach. Organization leaders claim control over 100,000 of the state's 200,000 voters.

PARLEY IS PLANNED

Locarno Powers' Conference
Predicted for London July 23

LONDON, July 17.—(AP)—Authoritative sources predicted tonight a conference of Locarno powers, aimed at recreating European security, would start in London probably July 23.

Great Britain, it was stated, was awaiting replies from France and Belgium to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's suggestion that the three-power parley be held in London instead of Brussels to pave the way for a later five-power or possibly all-European conference to aim at a European security pact.

The three-power parley will be concerned primarily with arrangements for the latter conference.

Suggested holding of the preliminary caucus in London was interpreted in diplomatic circles as a concession to Adolf Hitler, whose rearmament of the Rhineland precipitated the Locarno crisis.

POWERFUL PRINCESS
IGNORES NEW SULTAN

MANILA, July 17.—(AP)—The powerful Moro princess, Dayang Dayang, planned tonight to sail for Manila without acknowledging the elevation of Rajah Muda to the sultanate of Sulu over her rigid opposition.

Rajah Muda, brother of the late Sultan Jam'ul Kiram and asserted descendant of the prophet Mohammed, was crowned sultan of the Moros earlier in the day at Maibun, Jolo, to end a long controversy over the succession.

Princess Dayang, adopted daughter of the old sultan, acted as sultana after his death and once was reported to have been permanently ascending the Sulu throne.

While the datus (chieftains) elected Rajah Muda the princess remained away from the proceedings.

JAMES' TESTIMONY
DECLARED UNTRUE

Way Cleared for Prosecution's Plea to Jury.

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—(AP)—Rebuttal witnesses cleared the way today for the prosecution's jury plea that Robert S. James, the marrying barber, should be sent to the gallows for the rattlesnake-bathbub drowning death of his seventh wife, Mary.

One rebuttal witness, Dr. A. F. Wagner, county autopsy surgeon, repudiated James' testimony by declaring he found no signs of an illegal operation having been performed on Mary James when he examined her body nine months after her death.

The red-haired barber, accused of drowning his wife after forcing her to submit to torture by rattlesnakes, testified Charles Hope, ex-sailor and vendor of hamburger sandwiches, told him he performed such an operation on the woman the day her body was found in a lily pond.

His wife was an expectant mother, James said, Dr. Wagner testified this was shown by his autopsy.

Harris Are Given One-Year Awards.

Art scholarships offered by the High Museum of Art school have been awarded this year to Roy Brownlee, of Atlanta, and Clarissa Harris, of Decatur, L. P. Skidmore, director of the school, announced yesterday.

The scholarships were awarded on the basis of excellence of work submitted and many high school students of Atlanta and the vicinity entered the competition. Both the winners graduated this spring from high school.

Brownlee is 18 years old and is a graduate of Tech High school, where he was a member of the art and engraving staff of the annual school publication last year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Brownlee Sr., of 572 Lexington street, S. W.

While a student at Joe Brown Junior High school, Brownlee won three one-year scholarships to the art museum school in succession and also won the $300 scholarship in sculpture and art offered by Stephen Thomas in a competition with students of all Atlanta high schools.

Miss Harris is 17 years old and graduated this spring from Decatur Girls' High school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Desha H. Harris, of 737 Clairmont road, Decatur. Miss Harris has never taken art lessons except elementary instruction in grammar schools at Louisville, Ky. However, she was art editor last year of the Decatur High school annual publication and drew all the sketches included in it.

The two winners will enroll September 5 for the year's art work.

BARTOW, Fla., July 17.—(AP)—An inventory of the estate of the late United States Senator Park Trammell filed in probate court today showed personal effects valued at less than $100 and an insurance policy for $4,242.

J. P. Marchant, of Lakeland, named as administrator, said he had investigated and was satisfied this was all the property the senator left.

The life insurance policy was assigned to the First National Bank of Lakeland for security for a loan. It was made payable to the estate.

Nazi Government Charges
Czech Policy Danger to Europe Peace.

BERLIN, July 17.—(AP)—German uneasy over indications of closer operation between Russia, Czechoslovakia and Rumania, launched an attack today on the foreign policy of the Czech government as a danger to Europe's peace.

The Reich, through its foreign office mouthpiece, the Deutsche Diplomatische Politische Korrespondenz, attacked particularly Czech financial support of Rumanian armament, the reported building of a railway to connect Soviet Russia and Czechoslovakia.

(In Bucharest, a source close to government said construction of railway, through the Rumanian province of Bessarabia, will begin once. Diplomats said the project part of foreign Minister Nicholas Tulescu's counter-offensive against spread of German influence in Balkans. It will be financed by a loan from Czechoslovakia and is expected to be completed within a year.)

The foreign office organ accused Czechoslovakia of injecting a complication in the European situation at the very moment the German agreement promised definitely to relax long-standing tension.

Charged with a brutal attack on Mrs. Joseph Herring, of Toocoo, Sanford Scott, 17, and Cecil Smith, 16, Toocoo youths, were brought to Fulton tower yesterday by Stephens county authorities for safekeeping.

Smith is said to have told Sheriff Fred A. Stowe, of Toocoo, that he wished while his companion beat Mrs. Herring, wife of a retired army officer, with a garden implement. The sheriff charged both boys with assault with intent to murder and robbery.

The army officer's wife is still in a serious condition as the result of head wounds, it was said.

Fulton county deputies said Smith told them he confessed to Sheriff Stowe "because my conscience hurt me."

Alderman I. Gloor Hailey, ninth ward, said that under the state law the committee has no right to refuse to permit officers to accept the reward.

Recommendations that the money be paid were signed by Police Captains George T. Butler and G. Neal Ellis and Lieutenants O. R. Jones and J. T. Laster, but the recommendation of the chief was lacking in the space reserved for his signature.

Nine Men Involved. Nine officers were involved in the recommendations, according to reports. They are:

T. H. Leathers, C. J. Harris, J. C. Varnum, G. R. Elliott, C. M. Burke, W. H. Hickey, R. T. Payne, R. V. Paschal and W. F. Jones.

The rewards recommended totaled $143.40, and no report was forthcoming as to who had already received their share.

Resolutions to pay Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Vannie McDonough, police women, fired by the old commission, and ordered reinstated by the courts, $2,027.75 each for the time they were off, will be sent to the finance committee and then to city council.

June Report Made. A report of police activities for June this year as compared to June last year was submitted by Sturdivant to the committee.

The regular meeting night of the committee was changed from the second and fourth Friday nights of each month to the first and third Friday nights. The switch becomes effective at once, and the committee will meet at the police station as usual at 8 o'clock on night.

DR. TOWNSEND QUILTS MEETING OF DIRECTORS

California delegates were starting action to oust Dr. Townsend and his directors and throw the organization into receivership.

The suit was started by Rev. Alfred J. Wright, ousted Townsend northern Ohio manager, and three delegates to the national convention from California. They also asked an accounting of all Townsend funds in excess of $1,000,000 and impounding of books and records.

Named defendants besides Dr. Townsend were Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, heir to Huey P. Long's share-wealth organization, and Directors John B. Kiefer, Dr. Clinton W. Baxter, R. Rankine, Frank A. Arbuckle, Gimour Young and Roberts.

Rev. Wright was ousted after he appeared before a congressional investigation committee.

Gomer Smith Fight. In line with this new policy of Townsend and light, Townsend granted a stay of execution to Gomer Smith, who was president of the Townsend organization, who had been supposed to have been chopped off today because of a speech he made yesterday.

Smith, who defended President Roosevelt, criticized the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, a rising star in the Townsend movement, announced they would have to kick him out; that he would resign.

"I am still president of this convention and see what happens," Townsend insisted Gomer Smith was going to the chopping block, but that the ceremony had been postponed. It may not be performed until after the delegates have scattered and the Townsendites are no longer in the hot light of national publicity.

Pence Is Assured. Once that course of action had been agreed upon, Townsend leaders took out some insurance against having any more public fights. They passed a resolution making it out of order for anyone to offer a motion picture or a play before the convention. No political party or presidential candidate. No political opinions of any kind were to be offered from the platform; that the Townsendites called "free speech day" was over.

The only breach of that agreement came when telegrams from President Roosevelt and Governor Alf M. Landon, declining invitations to address the convention, were read.

"Boo, boo," was heard in the confusion, Chairman Frank Arbuckle immediately tried to gavel the sound out of existence.

Tonight Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, accepted an invitation to speak tomorrow. A wire from the communist party, demanding that Earl Browder, its president, be invited to speak, was also read.

In the original invitation, he asked to speak was received. Leaders said there was no chance that such an invitation would be issued.

Tomorrow the platform committee will bring in its report, but today there was little official business transacted except the introduction of candidates to congress who have been endorsed by the Townsend movement.

There was a 100-foot line of them for Townsend and for old age pensioners. The Townsendites cheered them—Republicans, Democrats and Independents alike.

The rest of the day was devoted to promoting good will among war veterans. Many of them were urged to join hands with the person on their left and right and say: "God bless you, fellow-Townsendite." They did.

blocked. The bill was passed and I signed it. It was sent to the Governor and he approved it. The people ratified it with a landslide.

Redwine said his platform included: Keeping the state out of debt; collecting of interest from banks instead of paying interest to them; payment of school funds promptly; without borrowing money; payment of maintenance monies to all elementary institutions promptly and continuation of low electric, telephone and transportation rates.

The senate president said he would keep his campaign on a high plane and "all manner of corruption and abuse" that had been "heaped on me" since he announced for governor.

Tax Limitation. In his discussion of the 15-mill limitation on the state tax, Senator Redwine said:

"In my announcement on July 4, I stated that in my opinion the continuation of the present economic policy of the state government would amply justify the ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment to limit the ad valorem tax rate to 15 mills. As a member of the senate, I supported this proposed amendment in order to give the people an opportunity to obtain tax reform in this state."

"Since the beginning of this century, there has been a demand on the part of the people for some relief from the inequitable system of ad valorem taxation, which imposes the burden of government mainly upon land and other visible property. All most every general assembly has been the record of automotive accessory makers, benefitting from brisk demand from the leading motor manufacturers. Corporation earnings are considered by many statisticians to have risen to approximately the 1931 level this year. Some have exceeded the 1929 peak. Many, however, still have a long way to go along the recovery road to reach the 1929 level.

Councilman J. the hotel and out into an electrical storm shortly afterward.

Durham Jones, negro bellboy at the hotel where Miss Cleveland was killed, told the jury he saw a man run from the mezzanine floor of the hotel to the lobby shortly after 1 a. m.

"He darted into the manager's office," the negro said, and hid behind the desk. Then he tore through the lobby and out the door. He slammed the door after him, jumped the railing of the porch and ran down the street. I didn't follow him because about that at the door."

The bellboy's description of the mysterious figure tallied with that of some guests in a taxi arrived given earlier by E. B. Pittman, who occupied the room across the hall from that of Miss Cleveland.

Members of the jury, before the inquest, viewed the girl's body at the morgue, but heard no testimony concerning whereabouts of the gun with which she was killed or the sharp instruments with which the wounds on her face were inflicted. One of the wounds, three inches deep, broke the girl's nose.

W. L. Cleveland, the girl's uncle and one of the 15 witnesses who testified, told how he discovered the body of his niece in her room when he went to rouse her yesterday morning.

"I retired about 10:30 the night before," he said, visibly moved as he testified. "Helen and I had returned from a day in the country with friends about 10 o'clock. We said good night and went to our rooms. I went right to bed."

The next morning, I awoke at 7:30 a. m., dressed, shaved and went down the hall to Helen's room. I have always been careful about entering her room without knocking, and this time, as usual, I knocked.

"When she didn't answer, I rattled the door knob. The door swung open, and I saw her body lying half out of the bathroom door, with her legs doubled up under her. Her face was horribly mutilated."

"I was stunned. I turned back into the hall and saw Mr. Leach (Harry Leach, the hotel carpenter). I said 'Look what they've done to her.' He looked in the door, and then we went to call the hotel management."

E. B. Pittman, state banking department employee, who occupied the room across the hall from Miss Cleveland, testified he heard a scream shortly after 1 a. m.

"I heard the scream as I was brushing my teeth preparing to retire," Pittman testified. "I went to the door in my underwear, then returned to put a bathrobe on."

"When I went into the hall a second time, a man was standing in the door of the room across the hall with the door ajar and a third person, I said, 'What was that?' It sounded like a scream. He didn't reply and I repeated the question."

"I finally said aloud that 'That's what I thought it was, too.' 'I didn't see anything wrong, so I went back to my room.'"

Stratton On Ladder. Her scholarship calls for one year's work at the university's music school, with additional years available if she shows adequate promise.

Well started on the ladder of success, this girl who began her life's work rather suddenly in a Peoria kindergarten and got her first big break in Atlanta, some day may have reason to laugh when she hums the tune to "I'm Nothing But a Big Wax Doll."

Landon's talk with McCarl was one of two important conferences during the day. Over the luncheon table, the executive hotel manager, the Kansas Governor discussed campaign plans with Wayland Brooks, republican nominee for governor of Illinois, and George Harding, Illinois national committeeman.

"We were arranging for a tour through Illinois," Brooks said after the meeting. "But details as to time and place still are undecided."

Prior to the conference both Brooks and Harding predicted that Illinois would be in the republican column in November.

Among those who called to pay their respects were William J. McWilliams, of Larchmont, N. Y., and Albert J. McCarthy, of New York city.

HUSBAND IS QUESTIONED. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 17.—(AP)—Shot through the heart, 14-year-old Mrs. Mildred Gray Wheeler's death presented police with puzzling angles tonight which prompted plans for questioning of her 60-year-old husband.

The arms industry nationalization bill is to be forwarded to the senate today. It was expected to pass the upper house early next week.

Defending the bill before the chamber, Minister of Defense Edouard Daladier said, "The first reason for the measure is moral. We are all unanimous in the desire that should war come again it should not be in the past but be the source of big profits for some while others are sacrificing their lives."

"It is necessary to increase means for our defense and at the same time put an end to speculation," he said. Daladier assured the chamber, however, that there will be no reduction of French forces without an international agreement that all other powers will act accordingly.

The government will not take over control of all industries producing war materials immediately.

years when she won a radio voice contest in Fort Lauderdale. So goes the record. Now 25 years old, she spent the last several years hating the farm and loving to sing "more than eating when I'm very, very hungry, even," she said.

She came to Atlanta last November to work, to continue her voice lessons and to seek a chance.

Pasquale Amato heard her sing and is giving her that chance. And it is a good recommendation for one's voice when Amato even gives a nod of appreciation.

Three-Octave Range. Her voice is a high soprano, bordering on coloratura. She has a three-octave singing range. On E flat below middle C to E above high C. And that is reaching several high ones.

That farm kept cropping up in her mind yesterday.

"Sometimes I would stand at the front gate when I was living there and sing as loudly as I could," she said. Then she laughed. "And when I did, all the hogs on the place and a lot from neighbors' farms would break lock and converge on the old gate post."

But the hogs did not bother her and neither did people who fail to appreciate fine music.

"Unencouraging Noises." "At home the community is not exactly opera-minded," she said. "Sometimes I would be asked to sing at some kind of performance. I would select a composition I liked and a few moments after I started singing the rather expressive audience would begin making unencouraging noises."

"But I would be having such a marvelous time singing that I would sing away without being bothered at all."

A lot of credit for what she has been able to do in Atlanta goes to the Bedford Memorial Home for Girls, where she has been singing since she was 10. Withheld declared. Her job here was obtained by friends at the home, she said, and she gets an abundance of encouragement and help from her associates there.

Miss Withheld is strikingly attractive, just the type for a score of roles. She wears her long straight black hair parted in the middle and combed back. Her eyes are full of fire and expression. She has the poise and assurance of a seasoned actress, but with a modesty that will let her reach the top and still remember the old farm—it isn't entirely with pleasure.

Her appearance compelled a question about her nationality.

"I was born in the United States," she said, but added that German blood predominated in her family, with traces of Prussian, Pennsylvania Dutch and French.

The jury was able to learn from the testimony only that screams and groans had been heard at least two different times during the night, a middle-aged, heavy set man was seen standing in the door of her room about 1 a. m., the time fixed in reconstruction of the crime as the hour of her death, and a man of the same description ran through the lobby of

'We Will Eliminate Profits of War,' French Premier Blum Tells Nation

PARIS, July 17.—(UP)—Premier Leon Blum, head of France's popular front government, promised tonight to settle accounts with profiteering capitalists.

In a broadcast appeal to the nation after the Chamber of Deputies, voting to nationalize the French arm industry, gave the government's largest parliamentary majority yet, the premier said of the capitalists:

"We don't need them. We don't want them."

The Chamber of Deputies voted 424 to 85 to "take the profits out of war," ending a 30-year debate on the subject. It debated only 6 1/2 hours in 1-2 sessions.

Then Blum went on the air in an appeal to the common people to buy new French treasury certificates—"baby bonds."

He said he refused to appeal for funds to capitalists who exported capital abroad to escape taxes or who be-

CONGRESS IS CRITICIZED BY VIRGINIA SENATOR

It is hereby declared to be the policy of congress to establish and maintain such a balance between the production and consumption of agricultural commodities, and such marketing conditions therefor, as will establish prices to producers at a level that will give agricultural commodities a purchasing power with respect to articles that farmers buy, equivalent to the purchasing power of agricultural commodities in the base period."

That clause was interpreted to empower the government to make awards for up and down adjustment of farm production and, White said, would be a major consideration of state legislatures when they vote on the question of adopting laws for state control of production in 1938.

Meantime, he said, the nearest approach to authority for national adjustment upward of crop production appeared to be contained in the fifth clause of Section 7 of the soil conservation act which was substituted for the original agricultural adjustment act.

May Add to List. Although it never has been invoked, the clause provides for "re-establishment, at such a level as the secretary of agriculture determines to be practicable and in the general public interest, of the ratio between the purchasing power of the net income per person on farms and that of the income per person not on farms that prevailed during the five-year period, August, 1908-1914."

The inferred wide discretionary powers given the secretary in that clause, officials said, suggested authority to base soil conservation payments on any kind of income program he might consider beneficial to the national economy.

Such interpretation, they added, made it possible for the secretary to add corn or wheat or any major crop of which the supply was below domestic requirements, to the list eligible for agricultural adjustment awards.

SEN. BINGHAM SEES FEDERAL DICTATORSHIP

Sec. Ickes, on Same Program, Defends Present Form of Government.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., July 17.—(AP)—Former Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, visualized the federal government tonight as "trying to become a dictatorship, benevolent in intention but sure to drift into despotism and increasing interference with individual independence."

A few moments later Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, took the same platform before the Institute of Public Affairs to "challenge anyone, on the basis of the actual facts, to prove that there exists in Washington today either an actual or a potential dictatorship."

Both spoke on "Representative Government Versus Dictatorship," Bingham from the republican viewpoint and Ickes from that of the democratic administration.

"We believe," Bingham said, "that the happiness of our people, the future of our country and the open door to opportunity for our youth depend on maintaining the American system of constitutional government, state rights and self-government."

Ickes contended on the contrary that "life and spirit cannot take on stature and expand in those molds which, however well they may have served in other times, are not sufficient to meet the needs of 1936."

"I do not believe," Ickes said, "that the last word in government and social organization was written even by those great men who subscribed their names to the constitution of the United States, even admitting that what they wrote always has been correctly interpreted. Why should we shudder at reasonable experimentation or fear a policy of trying to improve our social and political institutions by that most dependable of all methods, trial and error?"

Bingham, who said the fact that Connecticut was the only New England state to vote with Virginia for Grover Cleveland every time he ran might help "you to listen to the 'Yankee' who tonight speaks on behalf of the republican party," saw a serious threat to individual liberty under the New Deal.

"The policies of our government under the banners of the New Deal are constantly restricting individual opportunity and weakening self-reliance of the citizen," he said. "The theory of the New Deal is that the government is to be a magnificent provider of happiness. Where the money to do it is to come from does not trouble the New Dealers."

"Even more important than that is the distinct implication in their new platform that the powers needed to do everything 'you to listen to the 'Yankee' who tonight speaks on behalf of the republican party," saw a serious threat to individual liberty under the New Deal.

"The policies of our government under the banners of the New Deal are constantly restricting individual opportunity and weakening self-reliance of the citizen," he said. "The theory of the New Deal is that the government is to be a magnificent provider of happiness. Where the money to do it is to come from does not trouble the New Dealers."

"This means the end of liberal, representative government and the beginning of dictatorship. Their program of bountiful, humane paternalism is beautiful to look at and will attract many voters. It is well to consider, however, that it can only be put into effect by a benevolent despotism. History teaches us that benevolent despots always eventually become malevolent and bring untold suffering and misery."

To Secretary Ickes the only dictatorship which need be feared is in the hands of those who control the wealth and the means of production of the country.

"Money," he said, "is the greatest power in modern society. And when the money power of the rich is concentrated in the hands of a few people, then, indeed, we have a power that is to be feared. And it is especially to be feared because usually it is secretly brought to bear upon whatever of our political instrumentalities may be susceptible to that sort of thing."

"However, the very fact that the money power of America is bitterly opposed to President Roosevelt, is proof enough that he has not made terms with it and will not do so. There need be no fear of any president becoming a dictator who refuses to bow the knee to the money power, whose continuance in office depends upon the votes of the people. On the contrary that man is to be feared who, openly or secretly, is being supported by the money power of America."

The real issue, Ickes declared, is "representative government, which we have re-established, and an economic dictatorship that we have thrown off."

BUMPER MELON YEAR CONCLUDED THOMAS

Drouth Elsewhere Hikes Prices for 70 Trainloads, Grossing $350,000.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., July 17.—Thomas county, known as the leading watermelon producing county in Georgia and perhaps the entire nation for years, produced a large and profitable crop this season. Leading shippers and watermelon association officials estimate 70 trainloads of melons were shipped from Thomas county this summer, bringing in nearly $350,000 revenue to the farmers.

It is estimated 2,082 carloads of melons were shipped from the county. Figuring 30 carloads to a train, nearly 70 trains were thus moved from the various shipping points within the county.

The crop was shorter than usual this year but the quality was good and the demand heavy in northern markets. Melons sell better in hot weather and the heat wave in the mid-west during early summer was favorable for south Georgia melon growers. Prices were far greater this year than in 1935, with the crop having been reduced in middle and north Georgia by the drouth, with a consequent favorable reaction on prices here.

At Barwick, the heaviest shipping point in the county, three watermelon associations were busy this week to more than 1,500 people, a big fish fry celebrating the successful completion of the shipping season.

It is estimated that 470 cars were shipped from Barwick, bringing a total of $80,000 to shippers from that point. This figure an average price of $170 per car.

Apparently the next largest shipping point in the county, 437 cars having moved from Pavo, Melons over the railroads out of Thomas county were estimated at a total of 330 cars, with a Boston shipment. They were placed at 300 carloads. It is estimated that 200 cars were shipped from Metcalfe, 150 from Ochlocknee, 125 from Coolidge and 50 from Meigs.

Most truckloads of melons were shipped from the various towns in addition to the rail movements.

Hatcher killed Herbert Searcy, 71-year-old negro, in a fight in the latter's house, December 23, 1935. He stuffed the dead body into a trunk, where it remained for five days before it was discovered by relatives.

ALMADGE TEST CASES MUST AWAIT PRIMARY

Time Limit for Rendering of Original Decisions in April Term Expires.

Two cases involving Governor Talmage's one-man control of state finances must remain undecided by the Georgia supreme court until after the September 9 democratic primary.
The time limit for the supreme court and the state court of appeals to render original decisions during the April term expired Thursday. No original decisions can be rendered until the September term, which is called after the first Monday in that month.

One of the cases caught in the last-minute jam was an appeal from a fine of Judge Lee Wyatt, of La-range, in which the right of the state to pay out funds in the absence of an appropriations bill was challenged. Judge Wyatt ruled such a procedure was legal.

The other case involved the question of who is legal treasurer of Georgia. This case was from Rome where Judge Claude Porter tied up revenues from the gasoline tax until the status of the fiscal office was decided. The controversy arose over the ousting by Governor Talmage of Treasurer
George B. Hamilton and the appointment of J. R. Daniel as his successor.
Miss Katherine Bleckley, clerk of the supreme court, said during the last two weeks the two appellate courts were able, under the law, to render decisions on motions for reviewing.

During the April term, the first under the "three-term act" passed by the last legislature, the two courts rendered 513 decisions. The supreme court handed down 203 of these. Between now and the start of the September term the courts will be occupied with arguments on new cases.

Re-established in All Sections.

The city water department yesterday completed repairing the break in vent any more discomfort to users was absolutely necessary.

The line broke Thursday, but within 24 hours after the water supply in the northeast area was paralyzed, was re-established.

W. Zolo Smith, general manager waterworks, issued a statement saying those inconvenienced by their

George Sadler, janitor.
He burglarized the apartment of days later he was arrested and yester-

ANTONESE ROUTED BY NANKING FORCES

Southwestern Chinese Reported Seeking Japanese Support.

HONG KONG, July 17.—(AP)—Songs bearing allegiance to the Nan (central) government converged northern Kwangtung province city today while the recalcitrant south it was reported seeking Japanese support.

The southern leaders, who previously have contended their independent movements were "anti-Japanese," were represented as being by serious defections to Nanking.

Soldiers under General Yu Han-si, who the kumintang conference at Nanking named to succeed General Chan Chai-tong as Kwangtung commander, entered Suichow, in northern Kwangtung, and expected to make contact with Nanking troops in Hunan province at Lohkong.

The southwest's second army, with reports of defections reported within ranks was said to have evacuated Suichow, blowing up bridges and tearing up railway tracks behind it.

Southwest troops from Kwangtung, however, were reported encamped around Fukang, where it was believed serious fighting might occur.

Most missionaries were reported to have left the Suichow area for Canton.

Hull Shows How Farmers Benefit In Refuting Attacks on Trade Pacts

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(UP)—A vigorous defense of the administration's reciprocal trade treaties as active aids to and saviors of the American farmer was issued tonight by Secretary of State Cordell Hull in the first apparently out-and-out political utterance of the State Department in the present political campaign.

Stepping down from his customary aloofness as secretary of state, Hull verbally belabored critics of his program for development of American agriculture through reciprocal agreements. He called its opponents the "agricultural wrecking crew," which he said "does not hesitate to bend and twist facts for its own ends."

"Misleading use of the statistics of agricultural imports for 1935, designed to make the farmer believe that the trade agreements act has operated to his injury is an outstanding example of this misrepresentation," Hull said.

He charged that the real purpose of the "agricultural wrecking crew" is "to secure or to retain Smoot-Hawley embargo benefits for large industrial interests, as when the Smoot-Hawley measure was enacted in 1930."

The secretary said critics of his program had sought to create the impression that the trade agreements had led to a large increase in imports of competitive agricultural products last year. Such was not the case, he affirmed.

"Such statements first ignore the fact that only four trade agreements were in effect last year, and that the part of that year," he said. "As a result of one of these, the Cuban agreement, our exports of lard to Cuba were increased from 1934 to 1935."

Also, Hull said, the critics of his trade program were ignorant of the increased agricultural imports in 1935 that were absolutely necessary to feed and keep alive the live stock and poultry industry, which he said had been reduced, no appreciable increase in competitive imports would be found to exist (excepting sugar which is controlled under the generally accepted quota system).

"Nor is there the slightest fact for the absurd propaganda to the effect that the benefits obtained for our exports through trade agreements have been obtained by 'trading off' agriculture's domestic market."

The market improvement in the domestic market is itself proof to the contrary. The chief increase in agricultural imports in 1935 have been in non-competitive products such as rubber, raw silk, carpet wool, etc.

"Apart from the item of sugar from Cuba, which comes in under a general quota agreement to supplement our continental production, not over 3 per cent of agricultural imports, either directly or remotely competitive, can be attributed to our trade agreement concessions. Given normal weather, even that small percentage would decline."

And should the present year, unfortunately, witness a drought similar to 1934, and bring additional imports of feed stuffs over existing tariffs, these imports would once again serve to sustain rather than injure American agriculture. The trade agreements have not reduced in any way, as has been implied, the tariffs, in effect prior to 1935, or 42 cents a bushel on wheat, 25 cents on corn, 15 cents on rye, 16 cents on oats, 14 cents a pound on butter and 6 cents a pound on canned beef.

Hull said that critics and detractors of the New Deal trade agreements would find that they were confronted with the fact that in 1935 farmers were getting 81 cents a bushel for wheat as compared with 35 cents in 1932 before the trade program was adopted and when the Smoot-Hawley tariff was in full force.

In 1935, farmers were getting 61 cents a bushel for corn as against 21 cents in 1932; 9 cents a pound for eggs as against 3 cents in 1932; 3 cents a pound for cattle as against 3 cents in 1932; 28 cents a pound for butter as against 18 cents in 1932, and so on down the list of agricultural products.

"These critics, likewise, find themselves confronted with the fact that the agricultural income of this country was almost two-thirds greater in 1935 than in 1932," Hull said. He closed his statement with the prophecy that:

"The farmer will not forget that those who are seeking to capitalize him for their own purposes are the same persons who boasted of their leadership in opposing the trade agreements in 1933, but who rushed him into bankruptcy and left him there."

Federal War on Crime Is Depicted at Rialto

A fast-moving film of the federal government's relentless war on crime was unfolded yesterday on the screen of the Rialto theater with the first Atlanta showing of "Counterfeit."

With an excellent cast that lists Chester Morris and Marian Marsh in the leading roles, the picture has a rapid pace and tells an interesting story of the rounding up of a band of counterfeiters.

Others in the cast are Lloyd Nolan, Margot Grahame and Claude Gillingwater, each filling his part with ability, and adding to the general entertainment value of the film.

The picture has been made with unusual fidelity of detail, and is highly exciting and at times completely enthralling. It is one of the better films of the type dealing with criminal activities and investigation.

As for the plot, the action evolves mainly around Morris posing as a gangster in order to win the confidence of the crooks, and then bring about their downfall. As for the crooks, they are no ordinary ones, these boys.

They are headed by an educated, but ruthless, criminal, portrayed vividly by Nolan. The band floods the country with counterfeit money, a serious cash so expertly made that it is difficult to detect. The counterfeiters are also hard to detect, and that's how the plot thickens.

Marian Marsh is lovely as the heroine, and Miss Grahame as Nolan's girl friend makes the most of her part. All in all, it is a highly interesting and entertaining film.

A variety of short subjects complete the bill in a satisfactory manner.

TAX LIMIT IS OPPOSED BY MUNICIPAL GROUP

Association Ends Session by Passage of Resolutions, Election of Officers.

Passage of seven resolutions and election of officers for next year yesterday was the main business of the closing sessions of the Georgia Municipal Association, meeting in a two-day convention at the Ainsley Hotel.

One resolution placed the association on record against the proposed 15-mill tax limitation amendment. Two other resolutions were designed to increase local home rule, while two others were aimed at increasing municipal revenues. Two miscellaneous resolutions were also passed.

The resolution against the 15-mill limitation amendment stated the association believed local self-government would be taken away from the municipalities by the passage of the amendment. The resolution stated that municipal services would have to be curtailed for lack of revenues if the amendment passed.

A second resolution, designed to increase local home rule, calls for the passage of a constitutional amendment granting municipalities the right to amend their own charters by action of the local governing bodies and a vote of the people, when necessary, in the cities or towns affected.

Another resolution dealing with municipal government calls upon the president of the association to appoint a committee to investigate municipalities and draft a bill containing principles used in the most progressive cities. The bill would be presented to the legislature for passage.

The association asked the Georgia legislature to grant the municipalities the right to tax buses and bus terminals in one of two resolutions designed to increase municipal revenues. The other asked for legislation to divert one cent of the gasoline tax from the highway board to the municipalities. The resolution points out that the municipalities are maintaining state highways which pass through the various towns and cities at their own expense.

Amenment to the present veterans' license law was asked. The resolution would limit exemption provisions of the law to veterans disabled 25 per cent, recognized by the federal government and who have only one business with one employee. The last resolution passed by the body accepted the offer of Emory University to cooperate in research on public affairs.

New officers elected by the association for the coming year were James D. Fort, Americus, president; E. J. Bass, East Point, treasurer; Arnold, Fort Gaines, secretary, and T. R. Lucke, Carrollton, first vice president.

District vice presidents are Thomas Gamble, Savannah, district 1; B. S. Inman, Thomasville, district 2; Luther C. Wilson, Columbus, district 3; Hugh Thurston, Thomaston, district 4; C. D. Bennett, College Park, district 5; Herbert I. Smart, Macon, district 6; A. P. McKay, Rome, district 7; I. O'Neil, LaGrange, district 8; A. T. Flannigan, Douglas, district 9; and R. E. Allen, Augusta, district 10.

Board of directors of the association for the coming year will be J. L. Renfro, Statesboro; Jules Morgan, Pembroke; J. Frank Norman, Milledgeville; E. J. Camille, J. E. Drake, Bainbridge; J. R. Brown, Cordelle; A. M. Anderson, Perry; A. C. Riley, Fort Valley; E. M. Smith, which increased in May and the first half of June largely in reflection of gold reserves, prior to its order reducing their volume, to the financial operations of the treasury.

In its monthly bulletin, the board said that huge government deposits in the federal reserve banks, withdrawn to pay the soldiers' bonus, were flowing thence into commercial banks to swell their reserve accounts. (Excess reserves are funds deposited with the reserve banks and above a specified percentage of their own deposits, which under the law they are forbidden to touch. The excess constitutes, generally speaking, the basis of the money and credit market.)

To avoid an "injurious expansion of credit," the board this week ordered a 50 per cent increase in reserve requirements, thus removing an estimated $1,400,000,000—capable of multiplication into 10 times that amount of credit—from the money market.

At that time it cited the tremendous flow of imported gold as the major factor in increasing excess reserves. Going into the background, the bulletin tonight said that, while for a time, the treasury's new practice of depositing large amounts in the reserve banks, rather than the commercial banks, had reduced reserves, the situation had been reversed in recent weeks.

Queen Catherine, of Russia, paid the highest medical fee ever recorded in history—$50,000 and an annual pension of $2,500 for life—just for being vaccinated.

Compromise in A. F. of L. Ranks Is Sought by U. S. Labor Official

Special Session of C. I. O. Leaders Expected To Be Called Soon To Plot Group's Future Course of Action.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(UP)—Batting forces within the American Federation of Labor lapsed into silence tonight to avoid embarrassing new efforts by Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady to negotiate a "compromise" agreement which would restore peace to the badly split trade union ranks.

John L. Lewis and his aids in the Committee for Industrial Organization will spend the week-end studying charges by the federation's executive committee that they are fomenting "subversion" among the workers by operating independently to impose industrial unions in mass production industries. Their efforts, the council found, clash with the federation's traditional craft union policies.

The "rebels" have been ordered to stand trial before the council on August 3. The first reaction of Lewis and some of his colleagues was to ignore completely the summons to appear. The C. I. O. unionists are under considerable pressure, however, to proceed cautiously in order to avoid alienating public sympathy and central labor bodies which have been sympathetic thus far to their cause.

A special session of the C. I. O. leaders is expected to be called soon to plot the group's future course of action. Meantime, Lewis asserted today:

"We'll have nothing to say about the situation until Monday and perhaps not then."

Federation officials likewise remained silent. McGrady hopes that this surface calm can be maintained long enough for him to exhaust all avenues to a peaceful settlement of the dispute which threatens labor's 55-year-old "united front."

He is expected to meet Monday with George M. Harrison, young, vigorous leader of the Railway Clerks and crack federation conciliator; Lewis, Father Francis J. Haas, skilled labor expert, and later with other union heads scattered throughout the country.

Those seeking to mediate the dispute during the recent meeting of the federation's executive council suddenly found themselves trapped in a no-man's-land of bitter adjectives and startling threats. Their efforts were smothered by almost hourly statements from Lewis and President William Green, of the federation. In a temporary lull in the strife the conciliators managed to get the council to agree to take no drastic action until formal charges had been filed against the "rebels" and they had been given an opportunity to defend themselves. This gave the mediators 15 days of grace to continue their struggle for peace.

The peace-makers know the immensity of their task. They will encounter the stubborn positions taken by men who have spent their life in the labor movement and now earn from $7,500 to $20,000 a year as heads of crafts unions whose strength undoubtedly would be endangered by the success of Lewis' industrial unions.

Lurking in the background are smoldering personal quarrels between leaders of the various factions. For example, one of the loudest demands that Lewis and his aids be punished by the council came from William Hutchison, head of the carpenters' union. Lewis punched him on the nose in a floor fight at the federation's Atlantic City (N. J.) convention last year.

Lewis and Arthur Wharton, chief of the machinists' union, have had differences for years. Feuds exist between other C. I. O. unionists and federation leaders. McGrady's line of appeal, it was learned, will swing about the necessity of maintaining labor's "united front" if workers are to share in the business revival. He will emphasize the necessity of harmony if the federation is to extend its membership into a field of 30,000,000 available workers.

"A serious break in the labor movement today will set the cause of trade unionism back more than 10 years," McGrady said. "It must be prevented and we are hopeful we can do it."

Presidential Party Ends 30 Hours' Continuous Sailing.

CAPE SABLE, Nova Scotia, July 17.—(AP)—Skipper Franklin D. Roosevelt and his three sons anchored their yacht Seawanna off Cape Sable tonight after 30 hours' continuous sailing for 125 miles across the widest part of the Bay of Fundy.

They came on a crescent course from Seal Harbor, Maine, through fair but cold weather, using the yacht's motors for a short time, although the wind was light.

The only mishap today was the ducking a sailor received when he went overboard while hoisting a lunch on the destroyer Hopkins, in the presidential escort.

SPANISH AUTHORITIES CONFINE UPRISING

MADRID (Saturday), July 18.—(UP)—Communication between Spain and the outside world was re-established at 2:35 a. m. today after the government confined a military uprising to Melilla, Spanish Morocco.

Fears that the revolutionary movement would spread to peninsular Spain, where there has been widespread monarchist agitation, proved unfounded.

The ministry of communications confirmed that the Melilla garrison had revolted when it lifted a drastic censorship which for several hours severed all communication between Spain and other European countries.

Hetzell told detectives his car was parked under the viaduct and that he was turning it around when the negro leaped on the running board. He man held the knife against his side and then forced him to hand over his wallet. Hetzell pursued the bandit for a short distance.

Kid Brown and Johnny Riddle Goin' for Finals of State Tourney

It is admitted that nothing succeeds like success. And that two and two make four.

And that the champion is the one the people dig down in their pockets for money to lay on the line to see—lose.

Mr. Freddie Russell, who writes delightfully for the Nashville Banner, has confessed, after a life of wickedness, no doubt, just why it is the people about the league like to see the Crackers lose baseball games.

Aside from the fact he compares us with wrestlers, as to villainous "acting," there can be no objections to this summary of why they "hate" us about the league. Meet Mr. Russell:

"Back in the spring we seemed to have aroused the ire of more than one Atlanta newspaperman by commenting at length on how the Crackers would be gunned for this year by the various clubs in the Southern league. (Although most of them have fired blanks so far, they still gun for the Crax.)

"It was written that Atlanta, as a rich club, would find every other outfit putting out its best efforts against them. And that spectators in the other cities would be pulling against the Crackers more than any visiting club.

"Yes, Atlanta was called the 'New York' of the league, the wealthy club that all the others would delight in knocking over.

"It was interpreted by some as an honor, by others as an insult. Regardless, you may salute the Crackers today as one of the best road attractions the Southern league ever has had.

"Atlantans see the champs in their white uniforms before a friendly home crowd. Up here in beautiful (C. C. ad) Nashville we view them from a different angle.

"It seems that Eddie Moore and his men realize they are villains. Anyway, they play the part to perfection while the home fans writhe in agony and crush their peanuts so hard as to lose the 'goodies.'

"Sure, they 'boo' the Crackers. They cheer and re-cheer if they boot a grounder or misjudge a fly. And if Byron Speer whiffs one of the champs—well, that's pandemonium for Sulphur Dell!

"What's the answer behind this? What causes it? "Why, nothing at all save the simple human nature urge and desire to knock over a superior club. It's the craving for an upset. Perhaps we won't admit it to a rank stranger, but underneath practically every Nashville fan knows that Atlanta has the best club in the league.

"And that's why they'll put their money on the line to go out and do some plain and fancy rooting against the mighty Crackers.

"When the Atlanta club came here for its last three-day series, close to 28,000 people saw the four games. No other club in the league could draw such a throng in Nashville.

"So it develops that quite a large hand should be given to Mr. Moore and his men not only for winning ball games, but for acting their parts. On the order of wrestlers, Nashville is one city on the circuit where they always play the villain.

"You should see Eddie Moore himself arguing with an umpire during a Vol rally. His every little movement brings a gripe all its own. Eddie Moore can produce 5,000 hoarse Nashville voices in ten minutes.

"When he slips back to the dugout, no doubt Dr. Moore indulges in a heavy laugh over the manner in which he can incite Dell fans. Yes, incite them without ever giving them as much as a glance.

"Oh, how they like to see the Crackers lose. It's worth three victories over any other club. But to date, there has been little chance for such celebration in Nashville.

"If the Vols should overtake the champs, or bump them off in the playoffs, there would be dancing in the streets in this fair city. And just because the greatest delight comes in beating the league's best club."

All of which is quite true. Our brave lads do swagger about a bit—as befits the champions.

And as for bumping our nine out of the race—or the play-off—the Nashville Vols may do just that. They have strengthened. And they have the pitching strength to cause us trouble.

All I can see to serve as a thwarting agency is Jim Lindsey. Our Jim. When he tosses his glove out there those Vols are beaten.

NEWS FROM TREADAWAY.
Mr. Charlie Thompson, ever a booster for his home town and its products, writes from Thomaston agent Charlie Treadaway, the heady little quarterback at Georgia for the past two seasons, and now a professional ball player:

Charlie Treadaway, of Thomaston, owned by the Detroit Tigers, and farmed out to Alexandria, La., in the Evangeline league, is showing up well at third base for that team. According to the Alexandria paper, Charlie has been at bat 153 times, scoring 38 runs, hitting safely 53 times for 79 total bases. He has hit three home runs and batted in 30 runs, for a percentage of .346. Alexandria is at the present leading the league by one game and the good work of Treadaway has been largely responsible for keeping his team on top.

After high schooling at R. E. Lee, Treadaway entered school at Georgia, being a star quarterback on the football team and a very capable infielder on the baseball team. After graduating from Georgia, Charlie signed a Detroit contract and was immediately sent to Alexandria to play for that team.

Charlie has many friends in Thomaston who wish for him continued success.

Well, Mr. Thompson, the Georgia Tech people wish Charles Treadaway had been in Alexandria, La., one afternoon in the autumn of 1935 instead of in Athens, Georgia, a-throwing of a forward pass which led to a 6-to-0 Georgia victory. And no doubt he will be in the Southern or Texas leagues next year.

A VERY CONSTRUCTIVE MOVE.
Mr. Fielding Wallace, the new president of the Georgia State Golf Association, has done a very fine service in adding to the tournament an additional flight of 32 players.

This will mean more entries. The boys who shoot out of the championship flight are a little adverse to traveling to a tournament, paying the $5 entry fee and then playing only their qualifying round—which doesn't qualify.

The new flight assures golf for all—and now even the duffers will come to state tournaments to win some swag in the lowest flights.

U. S. AMATEURS WILL QUALIFY AT 32 POINTS

Three New Districts Added; Birmingham Made a Qualifying Center.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(UP)—Thirty-two points will be used for national qualifying rounds for the United States amateur golf championship, to be played at the Garden City Club, New York, September 14-19, it was announced today.

Three new districts were added to meet an expected increase in entries. The 30-hole qualifying rounds will be held August 25 at all points except Los Angeles and San Francisco, where the date is August 11 to avoid conflict with the California amateur championship. Entries will close August 1 for the two early rounds and August 12 for the others.

Five new qualifying centers are on the schedule—Des Moines, Iowa; Indianapolis; Huntington, W. Va.; Birmingham, Ala.; and Richmond, Va. Two districts in which amateur championship rounds formerly were held were eliminated for lack of interest. They were Nashville, Tenn., and Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn.

Points in six other districts have been shifted as follows: Pacific northwest to Portland, Ore., from Seattle; Wisconsin, to Milwaukee from Madison; the Carolinas, to Winston-Salem, N. C., from Charlotte; N. C., Florida, to Tampa, from Orlando; Texas, to Houston from Dallas; Oklahoma, to Tulsa from Oklahoma City.

KNOWLES FACES MAX MAXWELL

Carl Knowles, the young knockout artist from Chattanooga, who holds two victories over Joe Lipps, will meet Max Maxwell, claimant of the heavyweight championship of the United States army, in the headliner of Promoter Doc Landford's third boxing show at Ponce de Leon next Thursday night.

Sailor Born, Atlanta, and Grady Gentry, the flashy Chattanooga lightweight, will collide in the eight-round semifinal.

H. B. Davis, also of Chattanooga, who made a big hit in his victory on the last show, will tackle Tiny Gaston, Atlanta, in a six-round main event. Gaston, a former contender for the slugger White and Kid Green, a pair of colored boys, and will also be another one of those stirring battles royal.

Grant Park Aces Battle West End

The Grant Park Aces will meet the undefeated West End Pirates at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Warren field. Both of these teams have played good ball this season. In the season, the Grant Park Wildcats will meet the fast DeKalb Barron team from Decatur.

Every team in the state has the ball and is trying to better their playing as the district meets get under way. The Aces had a tough break when their star pitcher sprained his ankle at Carrollton last Wednesday. They lost a close game to the Carrollton Farmers. The Farmers will come to Atlanta next Tuesday for a return game. The time and place will be announced later.

KNOXVILLE BEATS CHATTANOOGA 4-3

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 17.—(UP)—Knoxville defeated Chattanooga, 4 to 3, today after a fiery fifth-inning argument in which Manager Joe Bonowitz, of the Lookouts, was escorted to the dugout by five policemen, called on by Umpire Dolly McLaughry.

Catcher Sammy Holbrook and First Baseman Harry Taylor, of Chattanooga, also were ejected during the dispute which started when McLaughry called Taylor, who was umpiring behind the plate, for arguing to the dugout.

The controversy was the continuation of one that began in the second inning when McLaughry called Webb Holbrook on another close play at third. The victory broke a seven-game winning streak for the Lookouts.

Holbrook protested the decision by McLaughry, who was umpiring behind the plate. He carried his argument to Umpire Eddie Ainsmith, who waved him from the game. Bonowitz and Taylor rushed in and McLaughry ordered them from the game. Bonowitz walked back to center field. After waiting several minutes McLaughry called policemen, who took Bonowitz, still arguing, to the dugout.

The controversy was the continuation of one that began in the second inning when McLaughry called Webb Holbrook on another close play at third. The victory broke an eight-game winning streak for the Lookouts.

THANKSGIVING REMARKS

A great many people who are skeptical on other subject swallow Thanksgiving Day without questioning the validity of its title.

There are plenty of people in Houston who will sit at the table today, with their mouths so full of turkey and dressing that they will be utterly unable to answer the smallest question about the origin of this national festival.

The United States is the only country in the world that has a day of national thanksgiving in commemoration of one special event. Among the earliest settlers in this country, with the exceptions of cocktills, were the Pilgrim Fathers. They were a noble band of religious enthusiasts, who sailed from England to America in a ship called the Mayflower after a celebrated brand of soap by the same name.

By good fortune and fast sailing they managed to reach America before Thanksgiving Day. They landed at Plymouth Rock, where they were met by Honorable F. R. Lullback and welcomed with an address. It was a very cold, and not a good day for speeches, either.

This heroic little band of refugees were called Puritans in England, which is French for abolitionists. As they stood upon the bleak inhospitable shore, shivering in the biting blast,

SALLY'S SALLIES

YES—I KNOW YOU HAVE HAD A LOT OF EXPERIENCES

Two hours later the Pilgrim fathers had won from the Indian chief 2000 buffalo robes, 100 pelts of the silver fox, 50 tanned deer hides, 300 other skins and 150 hides of the beaver, panther and mink.

This was the original skin game. Later on in the game Governor Carver called a bet of $27 worth of wampum made by Massasoit, with his daughter, Priscilla, and lost on eight and treys.

Longfellow, in his beautiful poem describes what followed:

"Then from her father's tent, Tripping with gentle feet, Priscilla, the Puritan Maiden, stepped. All that she

"I am charmed to meet you, governor," said the Indian. "My name is Massasoit. I also am a great chief. My wigwam is down there—" (pointing with graceful gesture to the southwest)—"I have just come back from slaying the tribe of Goo-Goo. You may not have heard, governor, that the cat came back."

Governor Carver grasped the hand of Massasoit and said: "Welcome, twice welcome to our newly-discovered continent, sir. Colonel Winthrop, give Mr. Massasoit your hand."

"I'll keep mine, and deal him another if it's the same to you," said Colonel Winthrop.

Massasoit took his place at the side of the blanket that was spread on the snow, and the pasteboards were shuffled.

Massasoit, the Chief of the Tammamies, Brave as a lion. Up Gazed Massasoit. Then, as a rebuke springs, Swift as an arrow, or Leaping Couches-Couches, the Panther, or Buzzy the Battleships springs from his Coils in the sunlit bus. So Massasoit got a Move on his chieftains; Got to his Tilly's and Fled to the wilderness. Rushing through snowdrifts, and Far in the distance he Looked and saw that she Followed not far behind; Priscilla the sprinter was Not very far behind; Cutting a swath through the Snow with her number fives; Right on his trail was she; Right on his track with a New-woman look on her; Looking and hungry look, Look of a new-born hope. Hope for a man that might Be her own tootsies. Then Massasoit, the Chief of the Tammamies, Gave a loud yell that woke Wise-Kuss the owl, and woke Kat-a-Waugh-Kew-is, the ring-tailed coon, and woke snakes in the forest. Then Massasoit was Gone like an arrow that Speeds from the hunter; he Only touched ground on the High elevation; he Fled from the land of the Pilgrims and Puritans, Fled from Priscilla the Puritan maiden; Fled from Priscilla who Under the chin and call Him her sweet tootsies. Thus Massasoit, the Indian warrior, Laid down four aces and Took to the wilderness, Bluffed by a maiden. Laid down a jack-pot, and Lost his percentage. Lost it to treys and eights, And to the forty years Lived by Priscilla, the Puritan, the maiden. (Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution.)

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

She's Always Tapping Men On Shoulder.

Some girls have developed a habit of tapping men on the shoulder, or on their laps, when they talk to them. And somehow, the men are up under this treatment.

We can see how the girls tell the habit. Some men just won't to anybody unless they are polite couple of times. But still, punks like to be tapped, and she'll tell you twice before she poke boy friend with both hands at a time.

If she's a wall flower after a cure she'd better go home and write correspondence course.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.

A few days ago spoke about the two little moons which go around the planet Mars. They might be called "toy worlds," for one of them is only five, and the other is only 10, miles wide.

The moons of Mars were seen for the first time in the year 1877, and were discovered by an American astronomer. That is what our records say, but I want to tell you of a strange thing. One hundred and fifty years before any astronomer is known to have seen those moons, a writer told about them.

The writer's name was Jonathan Swift, and he wrote a book of fancy called "Gulliver's Travels." The hero discovered the land of the Lilliputians, little folk about six inches high. Later he visited a land of giants, where the hand of a man or woman was large enough to hold Gulliver.

Swift wrote about a visit to still another land, known as Laputa. This adventure is not included in many modern editions of "Gulliver's Travels," but it contains what I think is the most interesting statement in all that Swift wrote. The astronomer of Laputa, we are told, had "discovered two lesser stars, or satellites, which revolve about Mars... the innermost is distant from the center of the primary planet exactly three of its diameters, and the outermost The former (moon) revolves in space of 10 hours, and the latter 21 and a half."

When that was written, I knew about the planet Mars, but about the moons going around it, were no telescopes strong enough a person to see such tiny moons. How could Swift have written them? His words must have been clever guesses!

Not only was the guess right Mars having two moons, but was not far from being right the distance of the moons from planet. The moons of Mars are in easy range of the planet, than any other moons known in solar system.

Swift also made a good guess the time it takes the moons around Mars. The inner moon, he says, revolves in seven and a half hours, and the outer moon in 30 hours. Jonathan Swift often made a person when he wrote, and in case he probably was trying to joke with astronomers. The joke was, however, for he guessed close to the truth.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

STUBBORNNESS DOESN'T PAY.

Just as most brilliant plays can be placed in a definite category: Vienna coup, double squeeze, elimination play, etc., so the "busts" at the bridge table run according to type. One of these types occurs frequently in the defense of no trump contracts. A defender suggested a jump away at establishing a suit, even though it would do him no good to establish it, since, as the bridge gods, "he couldn't get into his own hand with a jimmie." Such a play as West made today, for instance.

South dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

Gone With the Wind' Movie Rights Sold by Margaret Mitchell

By Sally Forth.

EACH day brings announcement of additional fame and fortune showered upon Margaret Mitchell, famous author of "Gone With the Wind." The motion picture rights of the Atlanta's first novel have been purchased for $54,000 by Selznick International Pictures, Inc. Miss Mitchell, or Mrs. John Marsh as she is known in private life, will, according to well-founded report, receive royalties from the picture, with the cash payment, will exceed $100,000 in two years. It is said that the price paid for the motion picture rights is the highest ever paid for a first novel.

It is reported that the movie company will bring its entire staff to Atlanta on location to film the picture in order that the desired atmosphere and color may be obtained.

With the movie in anticipation, one of the current discussions among Atlantans is their choice of individual selection of famous movie stars to portray the roles of Scarlett O'Hara, Ashley Wilkes, Melanie, Rhett Butler and the many other characters in the book. That the book and its subsequent cinema presentation is of paramount interest, especially to Georgians, is established fact.

So great has been the enthusiasm upon her success and extensions of congratulations from a multitude of friends and admirers, that Miss Mitchell has been with the current wind of Atlanta has been enjoying during the past week, to the mountains, a much needed rest. She is now enjoying a restful and quiet stay at a near-by Georgia resort.

Anent the huge financial return of her book, there is an interesting sidelight told on Miss Mitchell and Mr. Marsh. As the story goes, the young author received her mail one morning and it was a letter bearing a $1000 check. The shock was great and the young author so completely unnerved that she fainted. When her husband rushed to her side and saw the check clutched in his wife's hand, too stunned into blissful and temporary unconsciousness. This is simply the first "good-faith" check on the publisher's contract.

WILSON ASKS SUPPORT ON BASIS OF RECORD

Secretary of State Points to Service in Seeking Re-election by Voters.

Announcing that since July 4 he has received widespread assurances of support in his campaign for re-election, Secretary of State John B. Wilson yesterday issued a campaign statement in which he said the fight to retain his office on his record only.

He promised to continue to give faithful service to all of the people of the state.

The statement follows:

"My tenure of office as secretary of state began June 27, 1931. During this short period my public record speaks for itself. Upon it I am seeking re-election.

"The duties of the secretary of state are for the most part ministerial in their nature. There are many things which mark progress and improvement since I first took office. However, in my opinion the outstanding accomplishments are as follows: Honesty and economy in management; the collection, preservation and certification of important historical data and information; with the complete, harmonious relationship between myself and the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission, Georgia today, from the standpoint of questionable securities and unscrupulous operators, is one of the cleanest, if not the cleanest, state in the Union; keeping the secretary of state's office on a plane of prestige and dignity it richly deserves, thereby assuring a faithful service to all the people; accurately and promptly handling hundreds of papers annually which serve and affect all other state officers and all county officers in the state; a complete and accurate system of registration and index record system in examining boards division which gives full and prompt service to about 18,000 professional men and women in our state.

"Since July 4 hundreds of assurances of support from the people from every section of Georgia have come to me. I am deeply grateful for such general approval of my public service and when I pledge a continuation of my best efforts at all times."

JAPANESE NAVY PLANS EXTENSIVE EXPANSION

TOKYO, July 17.—(AP)—A five-year naval program costing 2,000,000,000 yen ($50,000,000) was reported by two Japanese newspapers today.

The program includes construction of at least two capital ships and extensive expansion of the naval air force in 1937-38, the papers declared. Admiral Osami Nagano, minister of the navy, will present the program to Premier Koki Hirota and other members of the cabinet in the near future, the newspaper Yomiuri said.

Yomiuri predicted naval appropriations for 1937-38 would total between 650,000,000 and 700,000,000 yen ($162,500,000 and $175,000,000) as compared to 500,000,000 yen ($125,000,000) for 1936-37.

FEMININE 'PLATFORM' OFFERED FOR WOMEN

Removal of Asserted Discrimination in Public Affairs Is Main Issue.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(AP)—A series of political planks for women, aimed generally at removal of asserted discrimination against them in public affairs, was offered the feminine voters of the country today by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The "platform" was contained in the report of the resolutions committee which was approved by the directors of the organization, which claims an affiliation of 93,000 women over the country.

Under its recommendations the federation will query all candidates for public office in the United States to ascertain their willingness to appoint qualified women to a "fair proportion of the public offices" they are empowered to fill.

Other planks included: A reaffirmation of the organization's support for American adherence to the World Court protocols.

Re-endorsement for the proposal to add to the President's cabinet a secretary of education, heading a federal department of education.

Reaffirmation of the federation's stand for repeal of section 213 of the national economy act.

The measure in the opinion of the federation has "worked to discriminate against the married women in government employ."

The board reiterated support for the pending bill which would remove some of the asserted discriminations by amending the civil service act.

As the theme for its coming year's activities, the federation adopted "the business woman as a citizen" and decided to make available to all its membership all possible information on public questions, including the positions of candidates on issues especially concerning businesswomen.

Its members were urged to participate in discussions of economic problems.

NEW TRIAL DENIED LEWIS E. MALLORY

Alienation Case Moves Toward Florida Supreme Court.

MIAMI, Fla., July 17.—(AP)—The sensational Edgar-Mallory alienation case moved toward the state supreme court today when Circuit Judge Worth W. Trammell denied a new trial to Lewis E. Mallory, third, wealthy young Pennsylvania oil heir.

Judge Trammell, who presided over the recent trial at which James Edgar Jr., of Detroit, suing for $300,000, won a $35,000 verdict, signed his order without argument. He allowed the defense attorneys 60 days to file the bill of exceptions.

The lawyers said the appeal would be based largely on the 60 grounds contained in the motion for a new trial. These included allegations that the verdict was "so excessive as to indicate prejudice" and "excessive in that Edgar had condoned his wife's conduct."

The wealthy Detroitier testified he saw his wife, Kathryn Crawford since her divorce, in bed with Mallory in the latter's ground floor hotel room. Mrs. Mallory brought out on cross-examination that he took no immediate steps to intervene.

The bodies were mutilated almost beyond recognition.
